

Blood River: A Journey to Africas Broken Heart

When Daily Telegraph correspondent Tim Butcher was sent to cover Africa in 2000 he quickly became obsessed with the idea of recreating H.M. Stanleys famous expedition - but travelling alone. Despite warnings that his plan was suicidal, Butcher set out for the Congos eastern border with just a rucksack and a few thousand dollars hidden in his boots. Making his way in an assortment of vessels including a motorbike and a dugout canoe, helped along by a cast of characters from UN aid workers to a campaigning pygmy, he followed in the footsteps of the great Victorian adventurers. Butchers journey was a remarkable feat, but the story of the Congo, told expertly and vividly in this book, is more remarkable still.
