

Observations in the Orient: The Account of a Journey to Catholic Mission Fields in Japan, Korea, Manchuria, China, Indo-China, and the Philippines (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Observations in the Orient: The Account of a Journey to Catholic Mission Fields in Japan, Korea, Manchuria, China, Indo-China, and the Philippines Perhaps it is because of my own early experiences as a missionary in China that I followed with especially keen interest in The Field Afar the series of papers that appeared last year under the title of A Pioneers Log. In reading these letters from the Orient it often occurred to me that, if published in book form, they would make a valuable addition to the yet scanty stock of English literature on the vital subject of Foreign Missions; and I am happy to learn that this has now been done. I hope and believe that thousands of American Catholics, through these pages, will be brought to a fuller realization of the share which the Catholic body in this great Republic is so evidently called by Divine Providence to take in the evangelization of the heathen world. Today our Holy Father can hardly look else where than to America if he would replenish the decimated ranks of his Apostolic army and sustain it in its fight against the hosts of Satan.
