

Iranian Revelations

Iran is a country about which we hear a lot, but in reality, know very little: a country that seems to frighten the world. From the outside, Iran is a secretive place. But get to know it from the inside and it has plenty to reveal. Let this book reveal some of Iran's secrets to you in an eventful journey, opening up the life and people inside a complex and misunderstood country. From the bustling bazaars of downtown Tehran to the majestic mosques of Esfahan. Illicit wine tasting and encounters with the opposite sex in Shiraz, to the winding old city of Yazd and an unexpected stint of school teaching. From exploration of the world's hottest desert to encounters with the fanatically religious in Mashad in the far East. And the climax of a border crossing into Afghanistan. Amongst many other things, the author meets religious mullahs, helps to unearth a mass murderer, survives an attack by wild dogs and eats camel kebabs in the desert. Perhaps Iran, a country which is regularly in the news, almost always for the wrong reasons, is not quite the country we imagine it to be. Why not find out for yourself? an entertaining and insightful book, refreshingly written. a sharp eye and ear for the unusual, and some cutting insights. Maybe the next time you hear about Iran on the news, you might think of it differently.
