

Pakistan: The Barren Years: The Viewpoint Editorials and Columns of Mazhar Ali Khan 1975-1992

The independent weekly Viewpoint was launched on Pakistans Independence Day in 1975 with the intention of filling a void in the English language press. With the advent of the countrys third Martial Law in 1977 Viewpoint evolved into a focus for pro-democracy dissent. Mazhar Alis reasoned editorials and columns cover the crucial period that led up to Zias coup detat, the bleak years of martial law, the Afghan crisis, and the disappointing aftermath of military rule.
