

Made in Japan : Lillian Natsue Uehara Morgans Life Story

The author was a child born in Japan prior to WW II to an American Missionary mother and a Japanese physician. This book is a true account of her life from 1930 through the difficult and at times horrific war-torn years in Japan. She had to overcome racial prejudice because she was an Ainoko, (meaning child of mixed marriage). She earned US citizenship in 1958 and continued a fulfilling life as a registered nurse until her retirement in 1990.
