

The Lightning Flash: Language, longing and the facts of life (Translation Happens)

We dont say what we mean. We dont mean what we say. No-one can tell the truth - especially when we stick to the facts. Language isnt about words, or information, or things. Its always about us. As with music and painting, we use language to express what we are not able to say. And we can all do it. We all create our own poetry. It is not words that we understand, but the myriad meanings of silence that lie beyond them.
